

ECOS

A REVIEW
OF CONSERVATION

Volume 25

Issue No 2

CONTENTS

Editorial

- 1 Life in the inner circle

Feature Articles

- 2 Becalmed in the mainstream: how psychological colonisation has put the breaks on environmental action. Chris Rose
- 13 Last chance for the countryside. Trevor Lawson
- 22 A hall of mirrors: reflections on the 2003 CAP reforms. Alastair Rutherford
- 31 Social responsibility and the National Trust for Scotland: time to trust the Trust. Sally Huband
- 37 Conservation land ownership in Scotland: time to pause for thought? Hamish Chenevix-Trench
- 44 Corporate ethics and the Harris superquarry. Luc Giraud Guigues, Jean-Paul Jeanrenaud, and Alastair McIntosh
- 53 Living without minerals is just not an option. Nigel Jackson
- 58 Harris 1, UK aggregates policy 0 – developing a more sustainable approach. Dan Barlow
- 63 The Dibden Bay campaign – where did it go right? David Tyldesley
- 74 Veteran Trees: a study in conservation motivation. Nigel Cooper and David Lonsdale
- 85 Give nature a chance. Peter Rhind
- 92 Surveillance society and the spectacle of nature. Andrew Midgeley

99 Book Reviews

- Against Extinction
- Countryside planning
- Capturing Carbon and Conserving Biodiversity

Extinction of Experience seminar notice.

BANC AGM notice.

© 2004 The British Association of Nature Conservationists

ISSN 0143-9073

Typesetting/Artworking by Nick Featherstone Design Cheltenham.

Printed by Severnprint Ltd, Gloucester

ECOS 25 (2)

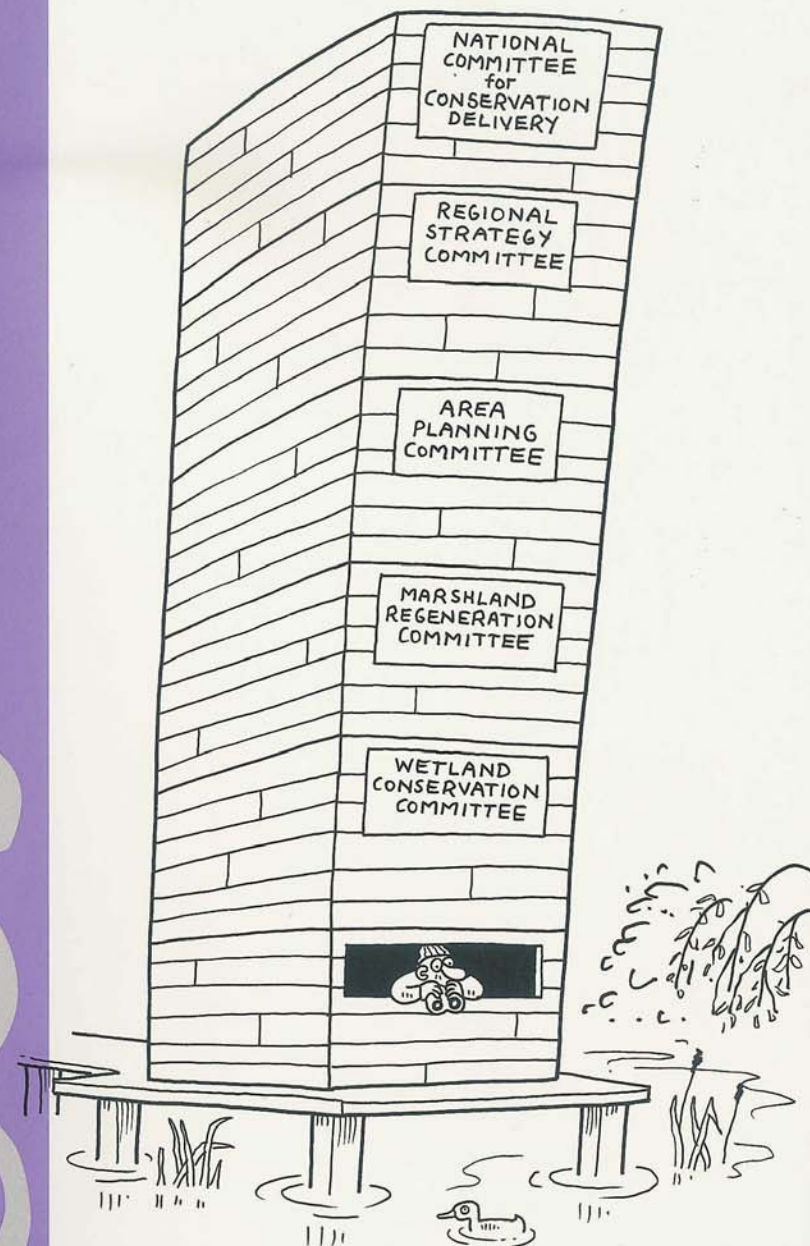

ECOS

A REVIEW
OF CONSERVATION

www.banc.org.uk

Volume 25

Issue No 2

Conservation weighed down?